

CHARD DENIORD

---

Epitaph

Knowledge made her bloody entry.

A black hat sat on my heart.

Language lived in an unmarked box.

An old man, on a plane, years later,
turned and said to me:

The dead are buried in us alive.

The future is the past on the best of days.

Maybe it was a train.